etc. They report that the shaft is 90 feet deep, all in pay ore up to a quartz vein, which is eight feet wide on the surface, and a drift on the vein at 80 feet depth, 25 feet long, from the breast of which a crosscut is now being driven to test the size and value of the vein, and which shows the quartz vein to be over 16 feet wide, all of which is highly mineralized, and neither foot nor hanging wall have yet been reached.

Each of the gentlemen of Mr. Blum's party made numerous pan tests of the ore taken indiscriminately from the mine and the dump, which showed gold every time. Of the great number of panmings made, not one failed to show a tail of gold. One of the tests from two ounces of vein matter showed in the pan a broad band of gold four inches long.

These gentlemen speak in the highest terms of the substantial condition of the improvements at their mine, the great number and the large size of their outcrop quartz veins, and of the uniform value of their ore, and the great amount of development work accomplished, their complete mining equipment, comfortable and spacious buildings, etc.

Mr. Augustus Trudo, M. E., who has been associated with Mr. Blum since his first purchase of mining property in this district and one of the directors of the company, accompanied the party on their visit to the several mines in the Lake of the woods. He states that the recent discovery of rich gold-bearing ore in the deep levels of the mines of this district eliminates every doubt as to the permanency of ore deposits in depth, size and value. Mr. Trudo has always expressed the greatest faith in the future of this district as a permanent factor in the world's gold production, and the steady output of bullion from the Mikado, Sultan and others now working, together with the good showings from developing prospects like the Anglo-Canadian Gold Estates mine, Elizabeth, Golden Horn and now, this latest, the sensational discoveries at the 20th Century mine, proves the accuracy of his judgment.

Among Mr. Blum's party is Mr. Outon Smalley, assayer, of Boston, Mass., recently with Prof. Carmichael's analytical lab assaying establishment at Boston, Mass., who is being installed at the Twentieth Century mines as assayer, with a complete assaying equipment.

Mr. Blum and his party visited the Big Master mines in the Manitowish and their stamp mill, which is about completed. Their mill, mine and improvements are a credit to the district, and the work is being pushed by their efficient manager, Mr. Will on H. Pickering, who showed Mr. Blum's party around both on the surface and underground, and treated them as so courteously.

While they were in town Mr. Blum's party visited the Ottawa Mining and Milling plant at Keweenaw and saw it in operation; the Lake of the Woods Co.'s flour mills, the Sultan and Mikado mines, and the Keweenaw Power Co.'s water power, which power plant has been developed at a cost of nearly a quarter of a million dollars. Mr. Blum and his party left on Monday.

An Ottawa dispatch says the Canadian census figures will show the population to be not less than five and a half millions when all the returns are in.

Water is usually reckoned to be "soft" when it contains less than one five-hundredth part of its weight of mineral ingredients and "hard" when it contains more than one four-thousandth.

Soft water has the property of easily forming a lather with soap, and is therefore suitable for washing purposes, while hard water will only form a lather, and that imperfectly, with considerable difficulty.

A mineral water has more than one two-thousandth of its weight of natural dissolved solids, and a medicinal water is a variety of mineral water containing a varying percentage of dissolved natural solid or gaseous drugs.

Buttered Side Up.

One of the stories which Levi Hurst, the old-time clockmaker of Concord, N. H., is believed to be related to the youth of Daniel Webster.

"One day," said the old man, "I was taking breakfast at the tavern kept by Daniel's father, Daniel and his brother Ezekiel, who were little boys with dirty faces and smelly hair, came to the table and asked me for bread and butter."

"I complied with their request, little thinking that they would become very distinguished men. Daniel dropped his piece of bread on the sandy floor, and the other side of house was down. He looked at it a moment, then picked it up and saved it for me, saying: 'What a pity! Please give me a piece of bread buttered on both sides, then if I let it fall one of the buttered sides will be up!'"

Where Americans Are Modest.

The American is shy of proclaiming to the world his deepest sentiments and superstitions. If he has any. He prefers to take himself either as a joke or as a matter of business. Hence when he has a town to name he calls it "Smithville" or "New Bristol" or, as actually happened in the case of one town, "O. K." He may believe in a real ghost, he may love his wife, he may admire the view from his windows and pine when torn from the woods and mountains among which he passed his boyhood, but he does not want to put those emotions into the postoffice directory.

Why He Didn't Go to Church.

"A Scottish minister who was indignant in looking up his folk one day called upon a parishioner, 'Ritchie,' he said, 'I have not seen you at the kirk for some time and was like to know the reason.'"

"Well, sir," answered Ritchie, "I have three decided objections to going to church. I think believe in him when he does at the talking; secondly, I think it is a waste of time; and, thirdly, in my conclusion, 'was there I got my wife.'"

Telegraphing With Cannons.

When the first vessel completed the passage of the then new Erie canal in 1825, there being no such thing as a telegraph in those days, the news was communicated to New York and to Buffalo by cannons placed within hearing of each other all the way along from Albany to each of the other cities. The signal was passed along in this way from Albany to New York city and back again to Albany in 15 minutes. The experiment was a costly one, but was a success in every particular.

THE READING CAMP MOVEMENT.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, B. A., of New Ontario, who has been endeavoring to establish free reading camps in the Rainy River District is in town.

This movement has met with considerable success. Last year three reading rooms were built, each of which were supplied with books. These were fitted up with small libraries, daily papers, in French and English, maps, atlases, pictures and games. The Ontario government is spending $12,000 in books, and equipment and is also contributing to assist. Provision is being made for nearly 500 reading camps this year.

The limits of the province will soon be nearly 500,000 buildings. A teacher is being engaged to conduct reading classes in all reading rooms, which a number of teachers from New Ontario, Mr. J. F. McDonald, M. A., a gold medalist in political science of Queen's university, has been engaged to assist. Provision is being made to ascertain whether instruction is practicable in the camps, and whether by surrounding these men with a good influence they can be led to avoid the liquor habit.

Neither the agent nor the instructor is the least member of any church or employed by the government. The work is taken up independently but has been recognized and endorsed by the Ontario Department of Education, by the Dominion Teachers' Association, and by several universities and colleges. A list of names of public schools is being given an opportunity of participating.

About $2,000 is needed for this year's campaign. Mr. W. J. Hall, superintendent of the Rainy River, and Mr. E. A. Hardy, B.A., of Lindsay, is in charge of this movement.

Mr. D. C. Cameron, President of the Rainy River United C. C., is one of the men who are making this movement a success. He has secured a building for the use of the company's camp for the purpose.

FISHING AS A SPORT.

A gentleman in Winnipeg, who has a summer residence on Lake of the Woods, writes a private letter to The Miner asking us to take up the question of "fishing as a sport," and to use our editorial influence to induce the government to stock the lake with fish that will rise to the fly. "It is a pity," writes our correspondent, "that your beautiful lake does not possess this feature, as it would make a difference in attracting such an amount of custom to your town that it would be easily perceptible."

A few years ago the Ontario government made a move in this direction, and Mr. Margach was instructed to do the work. Mention was made in these columns at that time that the numerous small lakes were being stocked with black bass, but we have not heard since of anyone catching the fish. This may be, however, because the location of the stocked lakes was not known, and if this is so, Mr. Margach should inform the Board of Trade and the local press as to the whereabouts of the fishing grounds so that they could be properly advertised. Mr. Margach claims that black bass would not live in Lake of the Woods on account of its waters becoming permeated with a vegetable matter in the fall of the year. He adds by way of suggestion that he knows of several streams within a day's journey from town which could be stocked with speckled trout.

The Board of Trade should institute an enquiry in the Black bass and little lake question, and find out the exact state of affairs so that in the event of there being good fishing in the stocked waters, we could advertise to that effect. And we would suggest that Mr. Margach be interviewed, and invited to state his opinion before the Board of Trade regarding his excellent idea in regard to the speckled trout for our running streams.

FUNNY ADS.

Under the head, "Situations Wanted Female," which in itself strikes us as somewhat obscure in its meaning, an advertisement, which for ambiguity makes a Delphic oracle look like 30 ing wife and family all the time when men are not on strike and only gets a chance to work when other men are striking is not much of a man, or else the country in which he lives is a mighty poor one for the working man. Monseigneur Ireland's article, in view of the fact that it is written about the condition of labor and capital in the United States, is not very complimentary to that country.

The Fruits of War.

Not long ago I visited the town of Novara, in northern Italy. There in a wheatfield the farmers have plowed up skulls of men until they have piled up a pyramid 10 or 12 feet high. Over this pyramid some one has built a canopy to keep off the rain. These were the skulls of young men of Savoy, Sardinia and Austria—men of 18 to 35 years of age, peasants from the farms and workmen from the shops—who met at Novara to kill each other over a matter in which they had very little concern.

Further on Frenchmen, Austrians and Italians fell together at Magenta, the hue of the blood that flowed out under the olive trees. Go over Italy as you will there is scarcely a spot not crimsoned by the blood of France, scarcely a railway station without its pile of French skulls. You can trace them across to Egypt, to the foot of the pyramids. You will find them in Germany at Jena and Leipzig, at Lutten and Bautzen and Austerlitz. You will find them in Russia at Moscow, in Belgium at Waterloo. "A boy can stop a bullet as well as a man," said Napoleon. And with the rest are the skulls and bones of boys "era evening to be trodden like the grass."

There's Etiquette in All Trades.

A lady who imprudently explained to a fishmonger the other day that her purchase was intended for the cat's dinner was a little hurt at receiving it wrapped up in a newspaper. "I understand, as it wasn't for yourself, mum," replied the fishmonger loftily, "we never wrap up in brown when it's for cats!"—London Chronicle.

The Human Jaw.

The human jaw is very loosely socketed in the skull, so that it is often dislocated by the mere act of yawning. Not being intended for biting purposes, offensive or defensive, no attention seems to have been paid by nature to making it fast.

Children's Fertilizer.

That's a good name for Scott's Emulsion. Children are like young plants. Some will grow in ordinary soil. Others need fertilizers.

The nature of some children prevents them from thriving on ordinary food. Such children grow right if treated right.

SIMPLE GEOGRAPHY.

Why Not Teach It as Railway Time Tables?

Map geography is its natural state is, the driest subject the school boy encounters until he reaches trigonometry, says The Toronto Globe. It is better now than in the good old days, when its study meant the learning of a series of songs without music, setting forth the names of capes, rivers, counties and capitals. Railroading, and the kindergarten suggest expedients by which the study might be made at once simple and pleasant. The construction of a railway time table, which in the finished state is almost as complicated as trigonometry itself, is effected by means of pieces of string and common brass pins. A sheet of paper the size of a blackboard is stretched along one side of a room. It is divided by horizontal and vertical lines into a vast number of little oblongs. Each vertical line represents a minute, and each horizontal line a mile. In the left margin are printed the names of the stations, each at its proper mile from the terminus. Along the top of the sheet are written the hours of the day. To build a time table, say for the Toronto and Hamilton line, with twenty trains each way, would require forty pieces of string and more than a paper of pins. A train, we will say, is to leave each end of the line at 8 a.m., and make the run in fifty minutes, crossing midway and making no stops. Strings are stretched from the intersections of the vertical line marked VIII., and the horizontal lines opposite Toronto and Hamilton, crossing half-way up the sheet, terminating at the opposite ends of the eighty-five vertical line. If there are stops to be made little pins are made in the line of the string by pinning it vertically opposite the station for the number of minutes the train lies there. The faster the train the more vertical the ignominious little piece of string that absolutely controls its course.

Why should not geography be taught by means of outline maps, large or small, and materials as simple and inexpensive employed by great numbers of teachers? could easily be done on the map before the pupils' eyes. They could do it themselves. They might be represented by lines of little paper flags, or by the outlines of the continents, or by the outlines of the railway system. They could be made of different colors, or by the outlines of the railway system. They could be made of different colors, or by the outlines of the railway system. They could be made of different colors, or by the outlines of the railway system.

At that time I was visiting at my father's house in Brantford, a small city in Ontario, Canada. We obtained the permission of the Canadian Government to use a telegraph line four miles long that extended from Brantford to a neighboring village. We put up our apparatus in a friend's house, kindly loaned for the purpose, and as it was over half a mile from the telegraph line, we were obliged to lengthen the wire.

No additional telegraph wire was available, so what do you think we used? You would never guess. We could find nothing in the hardware store, but stovepipe wire, and we set out to buy up all the stovepipe wire in Brantford to make our line long enough.

OUR FATHER CARETH.

The sparrow falls, a brief life quickly ended. Some wanton hand has blotted out the sun. The throbbing pulse of life for aye suspended. Unheeded and unmourned, except by One. "Your Father careth" for a sparrow falling. His eye hath marked the dying agony Which rent the veil of life in throes appalling. And choked for ever its sweet symphony. Poor fluttering heart! at rest, at rest for ever. Life's awful fever ended soon for thee. So speedily for thee its cords must sever: Was it to wed thy thoughtfulness at liberty? We know not, little bird. Thy Maker knoweth: We only understand he loves and cares: His brooding spirit like the wild wind bloweth. Interpreting all dumb, beseeching prayers.

If He so care for these weak, tiny creatures, O, soul distressed! doth he not care for thee? Can He not read in all thy anguished features Thy mute appeal against the things that "Your Father careth," cease thy vain repinings: All that thou needest He will send to thee—Merry and love through all the interwavings Of the mysterious working out of His decree.

—Mary E. Kendrew.

EARLY DAYS OF TELEPHONES.

Prof. A. Graham Bell Tells About Putting in His First at Brantford.

The following is from the pen of Prof. A. Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone:

It is exactly 26 years since I put up my first telephone. At that time I was visiting at my father's house in Brantford, a small city in Ontario, Canada. We obtained the permission of the Canadian Government to use a telegraph line four miles long that extended from Brantford to a neighboring village.

We put up our apparatus in a friend's house, kindly loaned for the purpose, and as it was over half a mile from the telegraph line, we were obliged to lengthen the wire. No additional telegraph wire was available, so what do you think we used? You would never guess. We could find nothing in the hardware store, but stovepipe wire, and we set out to buy up all the stovepipe wire in Brantford to make our line long enough.

We did not trouble to put up posts, but tacked the wire to the fence. The communication that took place over this first telephone wire was not a conversation, but a monologue, as we had the transmitter only at one end, and the receiver at the other.

In this was the first message was sent over the telephone, and I have been told that Brantford calls itself the "Telephone City" ever since. That was in 1875.

A short time afterwards Mr. C. S. Williams, of Boston, strung a telephone wire from his office in Boston to his horse in Cambridgeport, a distance of two miles. This was the first telephone wire to be permanent erected. Since these small beginnings, what a wondrous progress has been made! The next step in the improvement of the telephone will be wireless telegraphy. This is not an inventor's dream. It has already been done.

ON THE FARM.

There's many a successful business man who sits in his city office and lets his mind slip back to his boyhood days on the farm. How good it felt to live! What an appetite he had! How good everything tasted! How sound his sleep was! How eagerly he rose with the sun and raced with him through the long day. And now he's a successful man. But he can't sleep. He doesn't enjoy his food. His stomach is weak, his nerves are shaken, and he no more rises with the sun to race eagerly against him. His vitality is low and now and again his heart seems to plunge in breast as if it would break loose. That's the price he has paid for success.

The mischief of the whole business is that he buys "tablets" of one sort or another to "aid" his digestion, and indulges in bromides and other nerve stimulants, just to hold himself together, and wonders why he seems to be getting worse.

The whole trouble with such a man generally lies in what is called a "weak" stomach. The food he eats does not nourish him because it is only partially digested and assimilated. No man can be stronger than his stomach, because it is in the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition that strength is made from the food which is eaten.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the strength of the body in the only way strength can be restored, by food which is perfectly digested and assimilated, when the diseased stomach (with its allied organs) is cured of disease. It is a blood-making, body-building medicine, instantaneous as blood is made from food and the body is built up by blood. It is not a stimulant, containing neither alcohol or any other narcotic.

NO OTHER DOCTOR FOR ME.

"Last spring, early, I wrote you my feelings and condition," says Mr. A. J. Vandewater, 251 West Division Street, Chicago, Ill., "and you advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am a few bottles, and then write you how I feel. I am happy to say I am getting to feel better. In all I have taken six bottles of the 'Discovery' and four or five vials of the 'Little Pills.' They have done me worlds of good. All my friends say, 'Vandewater, how well you are looking.' What in the world have you been doing? I tell them I have been doctoring with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. They say, 'You haven't been there?' No, I say, 'I took his Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Little Pills.' These medicines have wrought the great change in me. From a slow, listless, and could do no work, I am now a strong, sleek, and feel like a new man. A feeling is all going away. I am so glad that I wrote to Dr. Pierce. His 'Discovery' and 'Little Pills' have done me more good than I did at any other time. I am only Dr. Pierce's patient."

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

"I will express my thanks to you for the kind advice you have given me in regard to my case," writes Miss Carrie L. Whit, of Danvers, Spotsylvania Co., Virginia. "When I came to you last spring I was in a terrible state of health. Had given up hope of ever being better. I kept up a load all the time and generally as a result I would have a bad sick headache every day. I am now, in fact, the Great Illustrated

BY OBSERVER.

Miss Moore, of Winnipeg, the young lady who is visiting at Dr. Gihne's, Centre Fort street, is in receipt of a letter from her brother, who is in the South African constabulary. He graphically describes the taking of a Boer laager by forty-two of the boys under Sergeant-Major Meville, and the recapture by a force of 600 Boers. The Canadians had two of their number killed, fourteen wounded and four taken prisoners. Meville's horse was shot under him, and he stood it bay until all his ammunition was spent and then surrendered. The Boers stripped him and let him go. Miss Moore's brother says that Meville has been recommended for a commission.

Miss Mathes suffered a bad attack of the gold mining fever while she was there and purchased an undeveloped claim on Lake of the woods. She told "Over" that she intended to float a company to operate the Clara Mathes claim, and would sell stock in every town and city she plays in until enough money is raised to make it a paying mine. It is sincerely to be hoped that she is as successful in her mining as she is at acting, and then Clara Mathes stock will be worth considerable overture.

Mrs. Ferguson informs me that she has almost completely recovered from her recent accident, and will be able to resume rehearsals for Mikado at once. Her many friends will be delighted to hear this.

Today to Mr. Oswald Partington, of the Partington Supply Co. Miss Partington, a sister of the groom, was also married at the same time to a Mr. Yates, a native of England. Mr. and Mrs. Partington will have their permanent residence in Rat Portage.

For table decoration, a new vagary has been noticed in the hanging centre piece. It consists of a square shallow basket made from birch bark and supported from the chandelier or ceiling by ribbons attached to the basket. In the bottom of the basket a shallow pan filled with water is placed and the basket filled with cut flowers. Any of the Japanese bulbs that grow and bloom in water can be successfully used and so save the expense of buying cut flowers, besides having a perennial decoration. Miniature canoes in birch bark, easily procurable here, are I think, much prettier than the basket, and an arrangement to hold sacred lilies or even hyacinths, is just as simple a matter as in the baskets.

A retired plumber says that drain pipes become clogged by throwing greasy water into the sink, and says the pipe may be cleared by pouring into the sink enough soda lye to fill the trap, allowing no water to run until next morning, when it should be flushed thoroughly with a current of hot water.

Mr. J. W. Stone and Miss Bertha Fitzgerald were married Wednesday night by Rev. J. W. B. Page at the residence of the bride. Miss Alice Baker was bridesmaid and Mr. Agar Fitzgerald supported the groom. The happy couple will take up their residence in town.

Mrs. J. J. H. McLean, of Winnipeg, is visiting Mrs. W. A. Brown, Matheson street.

The following is reproduced from one of our Winnipeg exchanges:

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Holy Trinity church at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, when Miss Amy Bray, eldest daughter of Mr. Frank E. Bray, secretary of the Lake of the Woods Milling company, was united in marriage to Jas. D. Hislop, of Ingersoll, Ont. The church was prettily decorated with palms and flowers in honor of the occasion. The bride entered on her father's arm and Ven. Archdeacon Fortin read the marriage service. Miss Maggie McLaughlin, of Rat Portage, was bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by Mr. W. E. Bray, brother of the bride. Two of the bride's little sisters, Jessie and Alberta, made a charming pair of flower girls. Mr. Robt. Fletcher, organist of the church, played the wedding march as the party left the church. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 628 Broadway, at which about fifty guests were present.

Music and Drama.

BY METRONOME.

The three nights' engagement of the Clara Mathes Dramatic Company proved a big success, both from managerial and public points of view. The cosy Hilliard theatre was filled to the doors every night and the plays presented were without a doubt fit to rank with the best ever produced in Rat Portage, and Mr. Hilliard deserves nothing but the very warmest praise for bringing such a high-class company to the opera house.

"Nell Gwynne," the bill presented Tuesday night, drew a crowded house. It dealt with a few chapters in the history of the Stuarts, bringing before the people that easy going monarch, Charles II, and some of his lady friends; and the old friend of school days, when we were studying history, Lord Jeffries, whose speciality was passing sentence of death. The play is smartly written, the dialogue being brisk and brilliant, the situations and general atmosphere interesting, and the costumes and setting beautiful. Miss Mathes played "Nell," her clever acting, especially in the climaxes, sending a thrill through the audience. She was ably supported by the entire company, who worked throughout unselfishly, and consequently, successfully. Mr. Harold Nelson, as King Charles, an unenviable role, was excellent, his acting being consistent and to the life as we know it in history. There is a charm of manner and stately grace about Mr. Nelson when he is on the stage which makes him unique among actors. As Lord Jeffries, Mr. Kennedy appeared at his best; his make-up was splendid and his acting clever.

On Wednesday night the melodrama "South Africa" was presented, Miss Mathes appearing as the Red Cross Nurse, Mr. F. R. Sawyer, as Sergeant Rafferty, captured the honors of the evening in this bill with his funny comedy work. He was a whole show in himself. Miss Emma Mathes, the charming ingenue, was in this as in everything else she did this week. The feminine life and soul of the play. She flits about the stage like a ray of sunshine, and says and does girlish things so prettily, and so naturally as to make one think that she must be ingenious and altogether lovely off the stage as well as on it.

Mr. Nelson had the heroic Stuart come to play, and of course, in such capable hands nothing but the fullest justice to the part could be expected from him, and no one was disappointed. The part of Col. Patton was taken by Mr. Haigh in an acceptable manner; and that of his wife, Mrs. Patton, by Miss Miller, who appeared to better advantage in this than in her previous roles. "Wally Astorhill," (Mr. Marsh) was an extremely humorous and indispensable factor in the drama, and the part could not have been placed in better hands. Mr. Kennedy, as the scoundrelly Captain Powell, was heartily hissed from the gallery—a compliment rarely paid to

CURIOUS CITY GARDENS.

In London Crops Are Raised in a Barrel or an Open Umbrella.

Many people have such a deeply rooted love for flowers that they will go to any amount of trouble to raise a few blooms even under the most apparently impossible circumstances.

Instances of this occur in the East End of London, where sometimes the only available garden is a barrel. In order to make the most of this, however, it is bored all over the sides with holes about two inches in diameter, into each of which a plant of some description is placed, in addition to those planted in the usual way on the top, so that a good display is obtained in the minimum amount of space. These barrels frequently look very pretty, and effective when all the plants are in bloom.

The statement that there are gardens under bedclothes is supported by no less an authority than that of the Very Rev. S. Reynolds Hoar, Dean of Rochester, a district visitor in the Midland, when calling upon a poor woman, noticed how few were the coverings to her bed. Upon being asked, she admitted that she had another blanket, and was remonstrated with for not using it, as the weather was bitterly cold. It at length transpired that her husband had taken it to cover some plants he was rearing in a tiny greenhouse, in the hope of saving them from being killed by the frost. Surely devotion to flowers could hardly go much further than this.

Not a few suburban householders usually find their gardens just outside the scullery door, and they exercise their horticultural ingenuity upon the tiny slip of ground in which the considerate jerry builder has carefully buried its superfluous half-bricks. In various parts of the country, notably at Nottingham, there are cottage gardens three miles away from the residence of their owners, so that when visitors are invited to "come and have a look around the garden" it means a somewhat lengthy excursion. These small allotments are, however, greatly appreciated and carefully attended, despite the fact that the time taken in getting to and from them plays sad havoc with their owners' scanty leisure.

Gardens in cemeteries, their appears to be only a solitary example in this country, the one which Sir Joseph Baxton of Crystal Palace fame formed at Coventry. In the United States, however, there are many gardens of this kind, notably at Boston, Brooklyn and Huddersfield, where they might with advantage be copied as our cemeteries.

Gardens may be made on open hill-sides as far as obtainable. A substantial crop of mustard and cress is concerned. It is only necessary to open the umbrella, wet it thoroughly, and sprinkle the seed over it. If the fabric is kept damp the seed will soon begin to sprout, and in a few weeks a fine quantity of the salad may be in use. The same method may be done in a dinner-plate with the aid of a strip of an old cloth, a bit of felt or other similar cloth, provided it is kept moist. London Mail.

HON. N. CLARK WALLACE DEAD.

Hon. Nathaniel Clark Wallace after an illness of several weeks, passed away at his home at Woodbridge, Ont. on Tuesday evening. He leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters. He was born at Woodbridge in 1841 and after completing his education he taught school for a time. His public career dates from 1871, when he was elected to the county council of York, four years later becoming warden. In 1878 he was elected to the House of Commons in the Conservative interest for West York, and he continued to represent the constituency to his death. In 1896 he was elected by a large majority. As an Orangeman he is even better known than politically, he having occupied for fourteen years the high position of Supreme Grand Master of British North America. He strongly opposed the Jesuits' Estates Act and later the remedial legislation in Manitoba. By his death Dr. Sprague, deputy Grand Master of the Orange order, becomes Grand Master.

For Better or for Worse.

There was a curious scene at Workington recently. A wedding ceremony proceeded without interruption until the bridegroom had to pledge himself to take the woman for better or for worse. He refused to repeat these words. The persuasion and entreaties of the minister and the bride-elect failed to alter his resolution, and when the minister said he could not proceed with the ceremony the man left the church, to the evident disappointment of the wife that was to be. The minister and the bride attended church again and the time of the ceremony of the wedding was successfully.

A London medical agent, who advertised a medicine for curing that had been ridden, issued notices a week for 12 weeks without breaking down. Was coming from the point of view of a bicycle. An interesting notice in the press, showed more interest in the condition of the rider at the end of the 12 weeks. On a letter was the often reply. He found his health for the. He said he was there, indisputably, to overcome the machine and not the rider. His indifference to the latter was the opposite attitude of the third who connected the frequent abuse of his father with his recent acquisition of a new bicycle. "God wants us to be kind to animals and flowers and people," she said, meditatively. "Then, after a pause, "But I'm not sure about be-"
